Male Manor Size Chart

Measuring yourself up for the perfect fitting suit is not as daunting as it may seem. To make this as effortless and accurate as possible, follow these simple guidelines and our measuring diagram and record your measurements in the table below.

Where possible, have somebody else assist you and make sure the tape measure you use isn't damaged or missing part of the starting end. These measurements you are taking are how we calculate the suit size applicable to the individual brand and style of garment chosen.

1. Height – record your height.

2. Weight – record your weight.

3. Neck – firmly wrap the tape measure around the base of the neck where a normal collared shirt would button up.

4. Chest – firmly wrap the tape measure around the chest, measuring from underneath the arm, generally at nipple height.

5. Arm Length – standing with your arm naturally by your side, measure from the highest and widest point of your shoulder down to your wrist bone.

6. Waist – firmly wrap the tape measure around the point where you comfortably wear your trousers.

7. Hip – firmly wrap the tape measure around the fullest part of your natural hip line.

8. Outside Leg – without wearing shoes, take the outside leg length measurement from the top of waist band of your trouser to the floor.
